

Celebrate your reading as you count up to 1,000 books! Print off the template below. Cut out the center of the flower and have your child decorate it. Children can even place a photo of themselves in the center. Then, for every 100 books you read, cut out and have your child decorate a petal to add to their flower. You'll need to make copies of the petals as you go. When you reach 1,000, your child's flower will have 10 beautiful petals!
