INSTRUCTIONS

Supplies:

- 1 frame
- 3 hooks
- 3 blocks
- 1 command strip
- black & white paint
- 2 paint brushes
- glue
- tape - not included
- marker - not included

- Take your 3 blocks and paint them black and set aside to dry.

- Paint the inside (back) of your frame white. You could tape (not included) the edges of the frame so you don't get paint on the edges. Set aside to dry.

- When everything has completely dried. Set the blocks in place equally apart and opposite of drilled holes. Draw lines (with a pen or marker) for each of the white keys spacing them evenly apart. From the center of the block to the bottom of the white keys.

- Glue the blocks inside and off center of your white key lines and opposite of the drilled holes.

- Push and turn your hooks into the holes at the bottom.

- Remove backing of command strip and attach it to the back side of your frame. Then remove the other wall backing and attach to your wall and hang up.
- If you wish to remove it later you will need to heat it up with a hairdryer and pull off. It may or may not damage your wall.
